NAMESAKES OF CHRIST

On Palm Sunday we heard in Paul’s letter to the Philippians that all things in heaven, on earth, and under the earth must bend their knee at the name of Jesus. That name comes back in today’s first reading. The Sanhedrin, whom we heard about just a few short weeks ago in the reading of the Passion, are again confronted by Jesus in his name being proclaimed by the apostles. Peter and the others refuse to bend their knee to the authority of the Sanhedrin and stop teaching in the name of Christ. In fact, they rejoice that they have been persecuted for doing so.

Do we turn to those first brave followers when we are called upon to give witness to the name of Christ in our name “Christian” day by day? When we must stand against, challenge, or confront forces that counter the gospel of justice, peace, joy, and beauty, do we give witness with no less than the Holy Spirit, or do we remain silent? Do we genuinely give honor to the name of Jesus by being his namesakes in the world today?

WELCOME HOME
 RETURNING TO YOUR CATHOLIC ROOTS

Regardless of what's happened in your life or how long you have been away, you can always come home to the Catholic Church, and our Lord wants you to come home.

*Think for a minute about Christ's parable of the Prodigal Son. The young man had walked away from his father, certain that he was doing the right thing by leaving. But eventually he had a change of heart and tentatively made his way home, full of doubts about whether his father would accept him back. The story has a happy ending. Not only did the father welcome his son home again, but he threw him a party in celebration of his son's return! You can be sure that the angels and the saints in heaven - and your own Heavenly Father - will rejoice that day you come home to the Catholic Church. If you have any questions or would like to speak with Fr. Mike or Sr. Anita, please call the parish office at 889-2254 or e-mail sranita@stteresaauburn.com. Please plan to attend a Welcome Reception with the parish staff at 7pm on Monday, April 19th in the parish hall. If you plan on attending, please RSVP @ 889-2254 X13, so we may plan appropriately.

Fr. Mike's Message

POETRY & WITTICISMS

I love poetry because it captures in a few words the wisdom of lives well lived or observed. I also love the witticisms and sayings of statesmen, spiritual leaders and friends. Over the years I have collected and memorized many of these sayings and couplets. Oscar Wilde was asked when passing through the English customs post - "What have you to declare?" He answered, "nothing but my genius." Winston Churchill and George Bernard Shaw had a long running feud of one upmanship. Shaw invited Churchill to one of his plays as follows, "Please come to the opening night and bring a friend if you have one.: Churchill replied, "Can not come to the opening night, but will come another evening, if there is one."

*I will arise and go now, for always night and day
I hear lake water lapping with low sounds by the shore;
While I stand on the roadway, or on the pavements grey,
I hear it in the deep heart's core.*

(W. B. Yeats)

*If each word were to say:
One word does not make a book,
There would be no book.*

(Michael Quoist)

Let me share a few sayings of some saints and sinners.

"Kind words may be short and easy to speak, but their echoes are endless." (Mother Theresa)

For a small reward a person will hurry away on a long journey, while for eternal life many will hardly take a single step". (Thomas A. Kempis)

"Two works of mercy set a person free, forgive and you will be forgiven, give and you will receive". (St. Augustine)

"True love deserves it's reward, it does not demand it" (St. Bernard Clairvaux)

"It is easy to tell people to accept poverty as God's will when you yourself have warm clothes and plenty. If you want people to believe you, try and share some of their poverty and see if you accept it as God's will yourself". (Thomas Merton)

"We cannot do everything, and there is a liberation in realizing that, then this enables us to do something and to do it very well. (Archbishop Romero)

"A politician is a person who can find a problem in every solution" (London Times)

"Women begin by resisting a man's advances and end by blocking his retreat". (Oscar Wilde)

"We are not here to see through people, but to see each other through". (Irish Saying)

God Bless,
Fr. Mike

Giggle: A high school student was applying for a credit card. The Bank Manager asked "Do you have money in the bank?" "I have", replied the student. "How much?" said the manager. "I don't know exactly," said the student, "I haven't shaken it lately".

THE GREAT 50 DAYS OF EASTER

The Acts of the Apostles forms one literary unit with the Gospel According to Luke. Luke's Gospel begins, "Since many have undertaken to compile a narrative of the events that have been fulfilled among us...I too have decided...to write it down in an orderly sequence for you, most excellent Theophilus, so that you may realize the certainty of the teachings you have received" (Luke 1L1-4). Acts begins, "in the first book, Theophilus, I dealt with all that Jesus did and taught until the day he was taken up, after giving instructions through the Holy Spirit to the apostles whom he had chosen" (Acts 1:1-2).

Luke/Acts is a very special form of writing. The author wants to show how the life and deeds of Jesus are continued in the life and deeds of the first disciples and are to be continued in the Church of our day. In the Gospel Jesus heals the sick; in Acts Peter does the same. In the gospel Jesus is brought before the high priest to be interrogated; in Acts the same thing happens to Peter. The death of Stephen, the first martyr, parallels the death of Jesus. Stephen prays, "Lord, do not hold their sin against them" (Acts 7:60) just as Jesus had prayed, "Father, forgive them, they know not what they do" (Luke 23:46).

A good way to enter into the spirit of this season is to read Acts on your own. If you begin at Easter and read but four chapters a week--about a page a day--you will complete the entire book during the Easter season.

As we read the Acts of the Apostles and here the book proclaimed at each Mass during this season, we ask ourselves: Is this our Church? Are we a healing Church? Are we a forgiving Church? Do we struggle to follow the inspiration of the Spirit?

This is the message of the Great 50 Days: Rediscover our roots. According to Acts, our questions are not; Does our Church have the most members? Does our Church have the most money? Does our Church have the most elaborate rituals? The bottom line is: Does our Church continue the saving, healing, redeeming work of Christ?

The stories we read in Acts are not ancient anecdotes, mere memories in the family album. They are our story, our family picture. Today, Jesus must rise in us. Today, Jesus heals and reconciles through us. Today, we must keep the story alive!

Our Graduates Speak for Themselves

Teresa DiLeo Madison
SJS Class of 1988

When I was a young girl in 7th grade at St Joseph's School, the last place that I wanted to be was in a Catholic school. I remember changing my clothes immediately after school because wearing a uniform in public was embarrassing, to say the least. Luckily for me, my Dad ignored my pleas to follow some of my classmates that were leaving to go to the local junior high. After graduating from 8th grade and then Placer High School, I attended CSU Chico. While at Chico, I earned a Bachelor's Degree in Science and became a Registered Nurse. Today, I work in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit at Mercy San Juan Hospital. The high level of expectation that was set for me at St Joseph's laid a foundation that I believe helped me to be successful in a very competitive nursing program.

As an alumni of our school and as a parent of a 3rd grade student and a Kindergarten student here at St Joseph's School, it is much easier to look back and see that all of the dedication and encouragement from the school helped prepare me for my work life and faith life as an adult. I remember many frustrating and challenging times of sitting out on the bench for being disrespectful. However, I also remember coming together as a school and praying for a teacher's sick newborn. I will always remember the teacher who looked at me one day and said that he predicted that someday I would become a missionary. I often wonder if that was the seed that was planted that led me to be a nurse. Recently I thanked my Dad for sending me to St Joseph's. My husband, Kyle, is currently going through RCIA. His decision to join RCIA was, in part, influenced by the many faithful families we have met here at St Joseph's School. For our family, St. Joseph's Catholic School will always be a special place.

Teresa with her children, Nikolas (kindergarten) and Maya (3rd grade).
